

Brian O'Neill

Brian O'Neill received his B.A. in Environmental Studies from Washington & Jefferson College in 2014. He is currently a first year M.S. student in the Water, Society, and Policy program at the University of Arizona. He is advised by Dr. Sharon Megdal at the University of Arizona Water Resources Research Center and is a research assistant to Dr. Franck Poupeau at the Institute for Interdisciplinary and Global Environmental Studies. He is currently researching urban water conflicts and issues of development.